

UniCredit among best employers in Europe for the sixth time in a row

For the sixth year in a row, UniCredit has been officially certified by the Top Employer Institute for its extraordinary commitment to the well-being of its employees and for providing an innovative, rewarding and inclusive workplace. The European level Top Employer Certification was awarded thanks to the local Certifications achieved in six countries.

The Top Employers Institute programme recognises organisations based on the results of their HR Best Practices survey. This survey covers six domains consisting of twenty topics, including People Strategy, Work Environment, Talent Acquisition, Learning, Well-being, and Diversity & Inclusion.

Commenting on the recognition, Andrea Orcel, Chief Executive Officer of UniCredit, says: "I am incredibly proud of this recognition and the reflection it has on UniCredit as a place to work. Our people are the most important element of our business. They are the reason we are able to be successful, serve our clients and impact our communities. Creating an environment that supports and challenges them, ensures they unite behind a common ambition and thrive in all they do, is a critical priority for us. We can and should always do more, but this award demonstrates that we are working from a strong foundation."

In line with the new business strategy, the Bank will be investing heavily in the digital evolution of the organisation over the next three years, and will also be focusing on upskilling digital competences, continuing to retain best digital talents and experts as well attracting new ones.
