UniCredit Bank is revolutionizing banking: For the first time on the Serbian market, electronic exchange and signing of documents by legal entities

Belgrade, 24th September 2024 – UniCredit Bank is the first bank in Serbia to present a platform for electronic exchange and signing of documents of legal entities, thereby introducing a certain level of revolution in banking on the domestic market.

The new platform enables fast, simple and secure access to all necessary documents, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, which significantly saves time, without the need to come to the bank and wait in lines. In addition to saving time and thereby reducing costs, this innovative service enables easier insight into the complete documentation signed by both parties, for all legal entities, regardless of size.

Access to the platform is enabled for multiple users in the same company, which makes this solution ideal for all businesses, entrepreneurs as well as large companies that want to optimize their business.

"By introducing a new platform, we are taking another step in the digital transformation of our bank. We try to make business easier for clients, to save them time so that they can focus on what is most important for them - the development of their business", said Nikola Vuletić, President of the Management Board of UniCredit Bank Serbia.

In addition to simplifying the internal processes of companies, this technology can significantly contribute to reducing the use of paper, speed up the conclusion of deals and increase data security.
